The Patient Arises and Walks Firmly to Sit in the Morning Sunlight.

NEARING DEATH.

General Grant's Disease Spreading Rapidly.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.—NEW YORK, April 13.—Senator Chaffee left the house of General Grant at 9:15 a.m. He stated that the disease was spreading. The senator was with General Grant an hour. There was some pain attending the taking of food and the cancer in the throat was suppurating. The general seemed to be weaker than yesterday. During the hour of the senator's call the patient coughed only once and the expectoration of mucus was accomplished without difficulty. So long as the general is nourished as he is now, the senator believed he would survive until death resulted from the usual course of cancerous disease.

NEW YORK, April 13.—8:45 a.m.—General Grant slept in a chair from midnight until 6:30 a.m. He was disturbed occasionally by attacks of coughing with expectoration. He awoke expressing himself feeling quite comfortable. He has just taken his nourishment without pain and is resting quietly. Pulse 72, Temperature normal.

A LITTLE BETTER.

2:30 p.m.—General Grant has somewhat improved in his general condition since the last bulletin. A slight soreness of the throat during the morning was relieved by cocaine. The secretion of mucus has diminished and the cough has become less troublesome. The patient walked without assistance to an adjoining room and sat in the sunlight. His pulse and temperature are unchanged.

Our Political Stories.

DRYAS, April 13.—A scene of great excitement attended the departure of the Prince and Princess of Wales to-day for the south of Ireland. The lord mayor, John O'Connor, was hissed savagely by a great crowd at Dublin hall. He called for cheers for Parnell, but the response was weak. Soon after this the Prince and Princess of Wales were driven past. They were greeted with tumultuous and prolonged cheering.

THE FINEST HOTEL IN CLEVELAND SHOT BY A 630,000 BLAZE.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CLEVELAND, April 12.—At 7:30 o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in a room on the seventh floor of the Stillman Hotel, an apartment house on Euclid avenue, near Muirson street, and in a very short time the entire upper story of the building was in flames. The chambermaid who made the discovery ran screaming down the corridor toward the office to tell the guests only a few of whom had yet arisen, ran from the rooms in utmost confusion. The clerk hearing the commotion, hastened up stairs when he learned the cause of it. He quietly informed the frightened people that there was no danger, the building being regarded as absolutely fireproof. His reasoning tone allayed their fears and the guests returned to their rooms. Meanwhile, the flames which originated in a room where the scrubbing utensils are kept were spreading rapidly and sixty servants quarters were on the upper floor, barely had time to escape with their lives, many loosing all their clothing. Eight steamers were called and it was not until after five hours hard work that the fire was gotten under control. The roof was entirely destroyed, heavy timbers falling on the Seventh floor and crashing through it in many places.

In this way the fire worked down to the sixth floor and thence to the fifth by means ash slides, but it was not allowed to spread. A heavy beam fell in front of the door to Larry Stevens' room on the sixth floor and shut him in. He was rescued from a window on an extension ladder.

THE BULLIONIST says that all American securities have advanced, upon the assumption that grain shipments must immeasurably increase and that otherwise an important stimulus be given in various directions, but the paper goes on to argue that the quality of American growth is not exactly suitable to the requirements. What is principally wanted is red wheat, and it is perfectly well known that the bulk, say eight-tenths of the supply abroad, consists of white wheat.

Under these circumstances then it is difficult to imagine that our cousins across the Atlantic can very successfully compete with Indian and Australian producers.

THE FRENCH MINISTERS.

PARIS, April 13.—The French ministers at London, St. Petersburg, Berlin, and Vienna, have been ordered to remain at their posts during the Afghan crisis.

TURKEY'S THREATENING ATTITUDE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 13.—The Afghan news has greatly excited all classes. Two days ago war was looked upon as certain, and the idea prevailed among natives and foreigners that Russia might be expected to make a dash for the Bosphorus, and at any moment the British fleet might appear in Dardanelles.

Nothing much is talked about but prospects of an Anglo-Turkish alliance. The sultan hesitates to adopt any positively compromising attitude, being unwilling to trust England without some proof in reality of British friendship before incurring the enmity of Russia. The press agents have consequently received instructions to spread the idea in foreign journals that Turkey will preserve a neutrality in the case of war.

Nevertheless, your correspondent is assured in strong quarters that Turkey will join England should war occur, being compelled to do so by the force of circumstances. Turkish feeling generally is in favor of an alliance with England. The Turkish army and navy are longing for war, and the construction of new roads progresses. Speaking generally the average Turkish idea is that without an alliance with England they are lost;

PEACE NOT OUT OF THE QUESTION BETWEEN ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

LONDON, April 13.—Instructions have been telegraphed Sir Peter Lumsden to transmit to London as quickly as possible his report and that of Captain Yates of the conflict on the Kushk river, known as the Penjeh battle.

The preparations for war continue to be vigorously made.

LONDON, April 13, 12:30 a.m.—The stock market is unusually quiet this morning.

The Russian explanation of the late battle does not seem to increase the feeling that there will be no war. On the contrary the general opinion upon the streets seems to be that the action of Russia since the battle has largely decreased the chances of a peaceful settlement.

MR. GILL'S DAUGHTER.

Poor Katie! A great sufferer she was, and most patiently did she endure the hope that at last her sufferings would come to an end. She was just budding into womanhood; a fine-looking girl of nearly nineteen, who had, previous to her attack of illness, enjoyed robust health.

Let her mother tell the story, as she told it to two of our editorial friends who recently spent an evening at the house.

"Katie's illness came on slowly, with great pain in her thigh and hip. For a while she kept on going to school, but the pains became so severe that she had to stay at home, and most of the time lie down on a little lounge here in the sitting-room. We tried the best physicians we could get. The disease balled them all. One said it was ulceration of the thigh bone, and wanted to have the poor child undergo a terrible operation. It turned out to be sciatic rheumatism. Poor child! how she did suffer! About four o'clock in the afternoon she would begin screaming with pain. She couldn't help it. She would scream and moan till about four in the morning. Then she would fall asleep from weariness, and sleep for some hours. This went on for about eight months. During the nights neither she nor I could sleep."

"Katie was a great reader. One day, in a paper, she saw an advertisement of Athiphorous. She asked me to get it and see if it wouldn't cure her. We had tried a good many different things, but I thought we would try this. And I went and got a bottle. I gave her a dose of it towards evening. It was simply wonderful how it quieted the poor child's pain and put her into a gentle sleep. She slept nicely until ten. Then she was in a great perspiration. She awoke, and I gave her another dose, for the first one had done her so much good. Then she fell asleep again and slept till morning. Her pain was gone. She had hardly any returns of it. The Athiphorous did the work for her most completely."

"But the terrible sciatica had drawn Katie's leg up, and made it shorter than it had been, by several inches. She was lame for life, although the rheumatism was all driven out of her. She had to walk on crutches. One day she fell down stairs and was so badly hurt that she had to be taken to the hospital. There she suffered a great deal, and after some weeks she died."

"Father Tschieder, of the Paulist Fathers, saw much of Katie during her illness, and knows all about us. Go and ask him, and he will tell you all about it."

"Some time ago we gave a letter about Katie's case, and it was published. We have had numerous inquiries in reference to it, all of which we promptly answer."

"I must tell you," continued Mrs. Gill, "of our neighbor, Mrs. Summers, and her eleven-year-old boy. The boy had one of the most terrible attacks of rheumatism I ever knew a boy to have. I had a little Athiphorous left in the bottle from which Katie had taken. I gave it to Mrs. Summers, and she gave it to the child who was screaming with pain. When Mr. Summers came home, he was surprised to find the boy sitting up, free from pain, and cheerfully singing. I wish you would go and see them. They live not far from here, on West 12th street, No. 905."

Mr. Gill added in his own behalf:

"I have had a good deal of rheumatism myself, chiefly in my shoulders and arms. But I took Athiphorous and I got rid of the trouble. I did not have to take much either. I found the medicine acted very quickly."

The Rev. Father Peter Tschieder, assistant pastor of the Church of the Holy Family, was found at his pastoral residence, No. 417 West 12th street, Chicago. Father Tschieder took pleasure in saying that he knew Mr. and Mrs. Gill, and that he esteemed them highly; also that he had seen Katie frequently during her illness, and knew all about her wonderful recovery from sciatica, and her subsequent injury and her illness at the hospital.

If you cannot get Athiphorous at your druggist, we will send it express, post paid, regular price, $1.00 per bottle. We wish that you buy it from your druggist, but if he has it, do not be perturbed to try something else. We order at once from us, directed ATTHIPHOROUS CO., 118 Wall Street, New York.

It is reported in Illinois circles that General Black, commissioner of pensions, has consented to take Representative Morrison's senatorial race against General Logan.

Up to Saturday Governor Gray had signed 123 bills passed by the Indiana legislature. Among the bills signed by the governor was the general appropriation bill, an act to amend the public school law and providing for the distribution of certain accumulated school funds, and an act appropriating $400,000 to Patrick Kirland.

A successful merchant of Chicago is contributing a series of articles to a paper of that city, entitled: "Some Mistakes of a Merchant." In speaking of advertising he says he tried all methods and closely watched the results. In consequence he has abandoned all outside methods and confined himself to advertising in the newspapers. The result is the same arrived at by every shrewd and careful advertiser. The advantage of a newspaper advertisement lies in the fact that it may be and usually is repeated so frequently as to command attention by its insistence, and also to the habit people have of instinctively turning to the papers for news of bargains, just as they look for news of current happenings. "Bargains" are the aim of every shopper, doubly desirable in hard times, when everybody wants a dollar to buy 150 cents worth. The supplementing of this desire for bargains is evidence of possessing a keen mercantile appreciation of the law of supply and demand.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and cures of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia or pain in the chest are simply marvelous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedy. You'll say so after using.

Breaking Up.

On every hand we see evidences that winter is breaking up, and will soon have to yield to the advancing spring. It is a most important question amongst scientific men what causes the general feeling of debility and lassitude so prevalent in this region. While some regard it as the result of confinement and inaction, others suppose it to be caused by the decay of vegetable and animal debris which has accumulated during the winter. What is especially needed at this time, however, is something to overcome these influences. It is too late to talk about the cause; what is the cure? Thousands of persons all over the country who have given Kidney-Wort a faithful trial are ready to testify that no other remedy is equal to it for cleansing the system, purifying the blood, regulating the bowels, and curing all kidney and liver diseases. It is in fact the king of all spring medicines.

Snip! In state prison I dwell,
I have passed a well,
I have turned on the gas in the dark;
I have kidnapped a lad,
I am awfully bad.

My murders have caused some remark.

I have broken bank locks,

I have robbed the poor-box,

I've deserted my children and wife;

I have taken my lot,

In a dynamic plot,

But I never ate peas with a knife.

"I should hold up the best piece of lace in the stock and ask the man if he didn't think it was becoming to his daughter's style of beauty."

"Well, what then?"

"Oh, nothing. The woman would take care of the rest of it."

"Young man, I don't want you for a clerk. I want you for a partner."

The gossip have been occupied for a few days past discussing the flight of the Rulo girls, whose papa manages J. M. Coombs' suburban farm. "We saw the opera," pertly remarked the eldest girl, "and had a nice time with papa's money."

"Did you see Sam Miller?" was asked.

"No, we didn't. I think he was smart if he went after us. We wanted to go to Chicago and knew quite well mamma wouldn't let us if she knew our intention, so we quietly slipped away. Sister and I can take care of ourselves."

Saturday Valentine Cook, was arrested by Detective Albert Potter of the Wabash road, and Constable Kelly, for the theft of brass from the Pittsburg and Wabash companies. Warned from his companions Cook squealed and disclosed the existence of an organization of vicious kids who have long robbed the railroad companies of iron, steel and brass. Skinny Moore, who is now behind the bars, was the chief of the juvenile desperados and a junk dealer, named Nieman, was their banker. In the party were seven or eight boys, all close readers of the life of "Jesus James," "Wild Bill" and the "Boy Detective." Their minds were inflamed by the flashy literature and the kids resolved on a desperate life. They did their crooked work at night, styled themselves "moonshiners" and were bound to secrecy by an oath. Their depredations here have extended over a year and their thefts of brass run up into hundreds of dollars. It was the program of the youthful "Jesus" to perfect themselves in devilry at home, accumulate a purse of money and then this summer go west and take the places vacated by the James and Ford brothers. The officers are after other members of the party and vigorous prosecutions will follow.
